DETAILED ACTION

Priority

Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Ishida (U.S. Patent No. 6,480,679). Ishida teaches a flashlight projector for a camera the flashlight projector including a flash device for projecting a flashlight so that an intensity of said flashlight may be at the maximum in outside top and/or bottom of the photographing area. The applicant is directed to review figures 4-5, 13, 16, and 18-20. Figure 4 shows the upper and lower limits being 1-1.5 EV larger than the center of the photographing area. A reflector 2 has a nearly half elliptical shape and a transparent protector 3 attached to a front side of the reflector determines light distribution by a regulate portion 3a disposed on a rear face of the protector. If the camera is rotated 90 degrees about the objective lens axis in order to take a picture then the outside portion to which the light is redirected will be at least one of above and below the photographic area. It is the examiner's position that rotating the camera by 90 degrees is an inherent ability of the camera's operation. In the alternative it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to rotate the camera by 90 degrees about the objective lens optical axis for the purpose of taking a full length picture of a person or object while still remaining close to the person/object.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 3-4 and 11-14 are allowed.

Claims 6-10 and 15-16 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed June 12, 2003 with respect to claim 5 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The applicant argues that ISHIDA does not deflect the flashlight tending towards a center portion to above and/or below the photographing area. The applicant argues that ISHIDA instead deflects the flashlight tending towards a center portion to the left and right. It is the examiner's position that if the camera is rotated about the optical axis by 90° then the flash will be in an orientation which is perpendicular to its original orientation. Then the flashlight tending towards a center portion will be deflected to above and/or below the photographing area. Such a 90° is notoriously well known and has been performed by photographers for decades. The examiner has personally used such a technique to capture full length pictures of individuals without having to step back from the photographic subject(s).

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
